

Permission Slip

Dear Parents/Guardians,

As part of our English class, your child has created an essay about what it is like to have a disability. They have also recorded themselves reading this essay into a digital recorder. For this assignment, they have the option of posting their recordings, essay and pictures to the Internet on our class weblog or blog (give blog web address here). The site does not contain any posts at this time, but please feel free to explore it. It is not required to post; however, the class has been working hard on these essays and is excited to share their thoughts with others. Students will be free to share this blog with whomever they like and they will be able to receive feedback on their essay through the blog. I moderate all comments and, therefore, no inappropriate comments will be posted. I will ask the teachers in the high school to view and respond to students' posts. I would ask the same of you.

Please check the appropriate boxes and sign this permission form. I appreciate your support in a powerful assignment. If you have any questions, please contact me.

Sincerely,

- Use first name only, picture, voice recording, and essay
- Use first name only, voice recording and essay, but no picture
- No name or picture, but use voice recording and essay
- Use only essay (no name, picture or voice recording)
- Do not post anything
