

Porto, 2018 November 5th - 6th

Invitation letter

Dear colleagues,

I am delighted to invite you to a scientific event that will take place at the Faculty of Medicine of Porto on 5th and 6th November:

II European Forum on Prevention and Primary Care

This will be the second edition of the Forum, which is organised by EUROPREV, the WONCA Europe Network for prevention and health promotion.

After discussing with junior doctors' organisations, including the Vasco da Gama Movement, we decided to reduce the registration fees significantly. The fee reduction is even more considerable if you register during the early bird period and/or join the Super Discount Fee: for every group of four colleagues registering to the Forum, a fifth one receives a free-of-charge registration.

I would like to remind all of you that the early bird registration period will end on 31st July!

We believe that we have been able to design an interesting and pertinent scientific programme to our clinical practice. Here are some highlights:

- The presentation by Iona Heath entitled "Hope, fear, prevention and profit";
- The presentation by Igor Svab "Prevention and professionalism in Family Medicine"
- The three interactive workshops "Overdiagnosis among apparently healthy people using Big Data" by John Brodersen, "How to achieve Asthma Right Care at scale to prevent mortality and morbidity?" by the IPCRG and "CALMEX Critical Appraisal of Literature in Medicine Express" by our colleagues Bruno Heleno, David Rodrigues, Catarina Viegas Dias and Ana Rita Maria.

The programme is promising! We just miss your attendance! We count on you!

Best regards,

Carlos Martins
