City Profile

The City of Rochester Hills was incorporated in 1984 and is located in Oakland County, Michigan. The mayor and seven members of the City Council are elected to four-year terms. Four of the council members are elected as district representatives and three members are elected as at-large representatives.

City of Rochester Hills Fire Department

The population of the city is approximately 71,000 and comprises an area of 32.2 square miles. In 2012, the city employed approximately 203 full-time employees and 57 contracted law enforcement officers. The city provides a full range of municipal services for the public's health, safety, welfare, and quality of life. City services include general administration, fire protection, contracted police protection, planning and zoning, engineering, building and code enforcement, cemetery operations and maintenance, park operations and maintenance, street construction and maintenance, storm water management, and pedestrian pathway improvements and maintenance.

Water and sewer operations, maintenance, and capital improvements are provided from user charges that ensure adequate coverage of operating expenses, capital replacements, and payments on outstanding debt.

The city offers quality housing, two award-winning school districts, major universities, a community hospital, a premium library, along with close proximity to a downtown with excellent shopping and restaurants in a hometown atmosphere.

The city boasts over 1,000 acres of parkland offering the community endless recreation opportunities. The Older Persons Commission and the Rochester Avon Recreation Authority offer world-class senior citizen, youth and adult activities for our residents.

The city also has a diverse business community and is situated in Automation Alley, the state's premier technology cluster and home to one of Michigan's eleven SmartZones. The city's business cluster includes a concentration of automotive, computer-based, clean energy, and other research firms focused on advanced technologies.

The economic condition of the city is sound while maintaining the lowest millage rate of all cities in Oakland County. The current economic environment has created many challenges and has provided the city with new opportunities. As it has in the past, the city continues to address the current economic situation by conservatively forecasting revenues and expenditures, and by establishing a three-year budget plan.

Michigan's economy still faces many challenges especially with existing unemployment levels that are also putting excess stress on housing causing a decline in housing values. There are positive indicators that Michigan's economy is improving, but a full recovery may not be seen for several more years.

Unemployment Comparison

Rochester Hills' unemployment rate of 5% as of December 2012, compares very favorably to the region, Oakland County, the State of Michigan, and the United States.

The number of building permits issued within a community provides some indication of the local economy's health. Fluctuations in building permits and construction are generally attributable to the strength or weakness of the local/regional/national economy. Construction activity tends to stagnate or decline in periods of economic uncertainty. The total number of building permits issued decreased steadily from 2007 to 2009 but are now showing signs of renewed growth.

Where do your city tax dollars go?

Below is a breakdown of how the total tax dollars are allocated for services provided to the community. Of the total $28.9 million of tax dollars collected, $17.8 million are restricted monies that can only be used for the specific purpose of the millage, such as for fire, police, pathway, library operations, senior activity (OPC), youth and adult activity (R.A.R.A), green space preservation, and debt. The general operating millage is unrestricted monies ($11.1 million) that are used to pay for all other costs of services not fully funded by separate special millages, such as police services, parks, building, planning, ordinance, public services, and general government.

The City of Rochester Hills millage rate has not increased, without the vote of the residents, for the past thirteen years even though taxable values have been decreasing. The combination of a low millage rate, the effects of Proposal A, Headlee rollback provisions, a low taxable value per capita ratio, and the city's unique taxing structure per City Charter, make it increasingly challenging to fund current levels of services and infrastructure needs.

Key Financial Information

<http://www.rochesterhills.org/fiscal>

Long-Range Financial Planning – The city continues to improve and build upon its long-range financial planning process. In 1995, the city developed a long range financial model that continues to be a valuable tool. As part of the budgeting process, the Fiscal Division updates long-range forecasts of revenues and expenses. These forecasts serve as the framework for budgetary decision-making by clarifying financial parameters, available resources, and potential options. The model provides historical data, currently budgeted city programs, and future financial capacity based on various sets of future assumptions.

Performance Dashboard – The city's Performance Dashboard is designed to help citizens gain a better understanding of how the city is performing in several vital areas: Fiscal Stability, Economic Strength, Public Safety, and Quality of Life. Much of the information presented in the Dashboard is taken from the Budget Report, Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR), U.S. Census, and other related reports.

Budget Plan Book – The Budget Plan Book is a three-year comprehensive budget document that sets the city's goals, objectives, and spending limits for a specific time period. The concept of three-year budgeting is a proactive approach that has enabled the city to better see the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead while allowing the city to become more resourceful and strategic in its approach to delivering city services.

Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) The CAFR is an annual audit of the city's financial statements, internal controls, and processes, conducted by an independent auditing firm, in accordance with state law and the city charter. The contents and information provided in the CAFR are accurate in all material aspects and are presented in a manner that fairly presents the financial position of the city.
