

Project J.A.M.A Request for Proposals

(Just a little Music and Art)

Funding Opportunity:

The Heinz Endowments Summer Youth Philanthropy team at Sarah Heinz House is offering a funding opportunity for existing or developing arts programs serving children ages 6 through 12. We seek to support projects that educate youth through an interactive, hands-on approach and help them advocate for the arts. Programs may operate during summer or out-of-school time. We ask organizations that apply to provide artistic insight and creativity for the real world. A total of $25,000 in grants will be available; individual awards will vary depending on the magnitude and potential impact of the proposed project.

Project Goals:

- Develop a high-quality plan for successful awareness of the arts in terms of accessibility, advocacy and youth participation.
- Provide an opportunity for youth, ages 6 to 12, to participate in programs that promote the innovation, creative mindset and intellectual growth that the arts provide.
- Achieve an overall sustainable program that will provide youth with the chance they deserve to be educated in a safe, productive environment.
- Establish background and context about the current deficit in arts education and how it affects a large number of youth, while striving to strengthen the quality of arts education throughout a region that is known for its cultural and educational richness.

Program Expectations:

- Skilled teaching artist(s) will work with a consistent group of young people over time.
- Participants will build skill in one or more art forms including, but not limited to, visual arts, music, performing arts or dance.
- Programming is provided that is engaging, with communication, actions, values, institutions or social groups that serve in ways that build on participants' strengths.
