The APA format is the form of parenthetical or end note documentation most used in science and social science classes, such as nursing, psychology, sociology, education, and business. For a more complete treatment of this topic, please see the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, Sixth Edition, or speak to a librarian or Reading/Writing tutor in the Learning Center.

Handling Quotes in the Text

- Short quotations (fewer than 40 words) are incorporated into the text and enclosed by double quotation marks (“”).
- Long quotations (more than 40 words) are typed in a double-spaced block with no quotation marks. Indent five spaces and type the entire quotation on the indented margin without the usual opening paragraph indentation. Give citation information in parentheses () after last sentence in block quotation, with no punctuation following parentheses.
- If you have a quote within a short quote, enclose it in single quotation marks (‘’).
- If you have a quote within a block quotation, enclose it in double quotation marks (“”).
- Ellipsis points (...) are used to indicate material omitted from the body of a quotation, but should not be used at the beginning or end of a quotation.

In-Text Citation

Citations within the text of your paper refer the reader to an alphabetical reference list at the end of the paper. APA format uses the author-date method of citation. The author’s last name and the publication date are inserted at the appropriate point in the text, following the material cited. Suffixes such as PhD. or Jr. are not included.

Works by a single author (6.11):

If the author is mentioned in the paper, provide the year of publication in () just after the name:

Ex: Hacking (1998) covers material on public record about chronic fatigue syndrome.

If the author is not mentioned in the paper, at the end of the quote or paraphrase use the author’s last name and the year, separated by a comma:

Ex: The article covers material on public record about chronic fatigue syndrome (Hacking, 1998).

If both the author and the date are mentioned in the text, a parenthetical reference is not needed.

Ex: In a 1993 article, Gould explains Darwin’s most successful theory.

For exact quotations, cite specific page numbers following the year.

Ex: Emily Bronte “expressed increasing hostility for the world of human relationships, whether sexual or social” (Taylor, 1988, p. 11).

For paraphrased passages, page numbers are encouraged, but not required. The year is required.

For an online source with no pagination (6.05):

If page numbers are not provided on an electronic source, use the abbreviation “para.” to indicate the paragraph location of direct quotes.

Ex: In exchange for that cooperation, authorities have recommended a sentence of 15 years in prison (Hayes, 2009, para. 4).

Works by two authors:

Provide the last names of both authors. Use the word “and” to separate the names in the sentence, and use an & to separate their names in the parenthetical citation.

Ex: As Sullivan and Thomas (1998) point out...

Ex: The turmoil in the Middle East is the result of politics (Sullivan & Thomas, 1998).

Works by more than two authors (6.12):

Use the last names of all authors in the first citation. Then, in all following citations, include only the last name of the first author followed by “et al.”

Ex: Writing becomes better as the child matures (Britton, Thomas, & Miller, 1996).

Ex: According to Britton et al. (1996), a child’s writing improves over time.

Works with no author identified (6.15):

When a work has no author identified, cite the first two or three words of the reference list entry followed by the year. The first entry is usually the title. Italicize the title of a periodical or book; use double quotation marks around the title of an article or chapter.

Ex: in the book Language Use (1991).

Ex: article on language use (“World languages,” 1993).

Secondary Resources (6.17):

When a work mentions another, previously published work, acknowledge the original author in your text, but give the source you are using in the reference list. Use the phrase “as cited in” for your in-text reference.

Ex: As Villa points out, “Perhaps the conflict seems so strong because the stakes are so low” (as cited in Affleck, Allen, & Della, 1996).

Personal Communication (Including letters, e-mail, and interviews) (6.20):

Do not add this information to your reference list. You should cite the information in text only. Give the initials as well as the surname of the communicator, and provide an exact date:

Ex: L.J. Smith (personal communication, September 20, 2009).

Ex: (A.N. Jones, personal communication, March 18, 2009).

Reference List: BOOKS

Note: In titles of books in the reference list, capitalize only the first word of the title, the first word after a colon, and proper nouns.

Books by one author	Author's name. (publication date). Title. City and state of publication: Publisher. Ex: Alvarez, M. (1999). The trip within. New York, NY: Random House. In-text citation: (Alvarez, 1999).

Reference List: ELECTRONIC SOURCES

(Including: Web sites, electronic books, ProQuest, EBSCOhost and other library databases)

If you cannot find some of this information for your reference, cite what is available.

Note: The updated guidelines for electronic sources state that the digital object identifier number (DOI) must be included if one is assigned. "A DOI is a unique alphanumeric string assigned by a registration agency to identify content and provide a persistent link to its location on the Internet" (American Psychological Association, 2010, 189).

Note: If a DOI is available, use it at the end of a citation. If it is not available, use the URL of the web site from which the information was retrieved.

Note: Retrieval dates are only necessary if the information will prove difficult to find again due to revision (ex. Wikis).

Note: Titles of documents or articles are not in italics and only the first word is capitalized. Titles of journals and other periodicals are in italics and all major words are capitalized. Titles of web sites are capitalized but not in italics.

PREPARING YOUR RESEARCH PAPER

Paper Format

- Use Times New Roman font, 12-point font size. (8.03)
- All terminal punctuation (e.g., period, question mark) is followed by 2 spaces. One space is used in reference citations, initials, abbreviations, and with commas, colons and semicolons.
- Use one-inch margins on all sides of the page, including in the header (8.03).
- Double-space throughout the paper.
- Indent the first line of each paragraph by five spaces from the left margin.
- All typing is done flush-left, with a “ragged right” edge.
- Do not hyphenate words at the ends of lines.
- Use a running head throughout the paper, including the title page. It should appear one inch below the top of the page on the left margin, in all capital letters. The page number should be at the top of the page on the right margin. If possible, use the “header” function of your word processor to automatically repeat this information at the top of all subsequent pages.
- Begin your paper with a title page. The running head (the title that you would like your paper to have, if it were to be published) is typed flush left at the top of the title page and in all upper case letters (see sample below). The title itself is typed in upper and lower case letters, centered on the page. If the title requires more than one line, double-space between all the lines.

Here are some general hints:

- Begin with author's last name and first initial, if the author is identified.
- Place date of publication in parentheses immediately after the last author's name.
- Italicize titles and subtitles of books and titles of periodicals.
- For titles of books, capitalize only the first word of the title, the first word after a colon, and proper nouns.
- The first word in the title of a document (such as an article) should be capitalized.
- Titles of journals and other periodicals should have all major words capitalized.
- All words in the title of a web site should be capitalized.
- Do not place titles of articles in quotation marks.
- Use the abbreviations "p." or "pp." before page numbers of newspaper articles and works in anthologies; do not use them before page numbers of articles appearing in magazines and scholarly journals.
- Alphabetize your list by the last name of the author or editor; if there is no author or editor, alphabetize by the first word of the title other than a, an, or the.
