About CMEMC18

The Construction Materials Environmental Management Conference (CMEMC18) is designed to share and promote good environmental management practices in the heavy construction materials industry. This unique one-day conference provides delegates with the opportunity to hear from eminent key-note speakers, and network with colleagues in industry and government to get an understanding of resources available to help their business operate in sustainable ways.

Over 400 delegates have attended the event in the past three years with attendees ranging from quarry and plant operators, environment and planning managers, Government representatives, contractors, consultants, industry group representatives, students and academics. The event is jointly hosted by Cement, Concrete & Aggregates Australia, The Institute of Quarrying Australia and the Queensland Government (Department of Environment and Science).
