

Personal Strategic Plan

Product Description:

Great companies do it every year. Top executives consider its maintenance among their top 20 activities. Top-performing departments do it in addition to whatever the company comes up with overall. Successful individuals do it almost without thinking about it. What is it? Strategic planning.

Personal strategic planning then is a method used to ensure that you are utilizing your time and activities in a way that will return the greatest amount of energy, or life experience. More and more, coaches offer strategic planning to their clients as part of their daily operations and ongoing revenue stream. Just as in co-creative coaching, the client is responsible for the results that they achieve. So as coach, you are accountable only for assisting the client in the process of planning the best route to reaching his or her goals and objectives. How much time will be required to do this? That will vary from person to person, obviously, but successful people say they feel like they spend a lot of time strategically planning. Most coaches charge $250.00 to $425.00 USD to assist in the development of a personal strategic plan. As an additional revenue stream, you can offer yearly updates of the PSP at a reasonable fee.

This template is in Microsoft Word format and ready for you to brand with your own personal or business information. Once branded, all you have to do is print off a working copy for both you and your client to begin the PSP journey. This template comes with all the explanations and working forms as well as a sample personal strategic plan in PDF format. Embark on another revenue stream that will truly enhance the lives of your clients as they work through the process of developing their very own Personal Strategic Plan.
