

SOCIOLOGY 389-4
DIGITAL INEQUALITY
SPR 2021

Canvas
(Video Lectures, Readings)

Online Meetings

Thursdays 2:40-3:55pm @ <https://tinyurl.com/soc389-4> (passcode on Canvas)

Professor: Dr. Cassidy Puckett, cassidy.puckett@emory.edu

TA: Joni Webster, joni-leigh.webster@emory.edu

Office/office hours:

- Time: Tuesdays 2:30-4:30 sign up online (<https://calendly.com/drpuckett/office-hours>) for a 30-minute meeting at least 1 hour before the time you would like to meet.
- Location: <https://emory.zoom.us/j/3662112990>; (passcode provided with office hours sign up)

---

COURSE OVERVIEW

Course Description

Welcome to Digital Inequality, Spring 2021. In this course we will investigate the question, “What is the relationship between technological change and social inequality?” We do so in three ways. First, we explore debates among sociologists, economists, and communication scholars about the extent to which technological change has contributed to various forms of inequality (economic, health, civic participation) and how this intersects with inequalities by race, class, and gender. Second, we explore theoretical tools and vocabulary, including what scholars call the first-, second-, and third-level digital divides. First-level divides concern issues of access to technological resources. Second-level divides focus on differences in technological skills and literacies. Third level divides emphasize the relationship between skills and literacies and broader social inequalities. We also look at scholarship on each of these divides, what it shows about the relationship between technological change and inequality, and issues beyond the framework of the digital divide. Finally, throughout the course students will be asked to apply conceptual tools and empirical studies to make sense of their own experiences and local and global issues and use these ideas in a semester-long group research project culminating in a group-produced podcast & script, designed for broadcast and submission to National Public Radio’s Student Podcast Challenge: College Edition.

**This semester we will focus our investigation on how the technological change introduced by the global pandemic shapes educational inequities by race, class, gender, or other social categories or intersections of these categories at the K-12 and college levels.****

In this course we pay particular attention to evidence, including how to analyze it and use primary and secondary source evidence to make claims about the world to academic and public audiences.

Working Definition of Evidence

Evidence: basis for belief; something that supports or challenges a claim, theory, or argument. (Adapted and synthesized from the Oxford English Dictionary and Merriam-Webster Dictionary.)

Learning Objectives

1. Understand theories of digital inequality and apply them to contemporary issues.

2. Distinguish the types of evidence used in sociology as compared to the types of evidence used in personal decisions or in journalistic writings.
    - Distinguish between primary and secondary sources in sociology.
    - Demonstrate an understanding of different types of primary source evidence, such as survey and interview data, and secondary source evidence like academic articles.
  3. Locate, assess, and analyze different types of evidence.
    - Locate and analyze evidence about the relationship between technology & inequality from diverse sources.
    - Locate sociological research articles (secondary source of evidence) in library databases.
    - Gather, analyze, and synthesize primary and secondary source evidence through a semester-long group podcast project.
  4. Evaluate evidence.
    - Evaluate the quality, credibility, and validity of the different types of evidence.
    - Determine the usefulness of evidence for different purposes.
  5. Build strong written and oral arguments based on primary and secondary evidence.
    - Construct a clear thesis and develop an individual podcast pitch and group podcast based on the different types of evidence you gather in a semester-long group research project.
  6. Present strong oral arguments about issues of race, class, or gender inequities introduced by technological change with the global pandemic at the K-12 or college level, and how to address them
    - Gather information from class lectures, readings, and other materials about problems at the first, second, or third levels of the digital divide, or beyond the divides—and how to address them
    - Make a compelling argument for the problem & intervention, using detailed evidence
  7. Assess others' arguments and articulate how to make stronger arguments based on evidence.
    - Evaluate peers' podcast pitches and presentations to make stronger arguments using primary and secondary evidence gathered over the course semester.
-

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

I. Staged Project Assignments (80% of grade): Perspective on the Relationship Between Technology & Inequality

Over the semester, you will be introduced to various perspectives on the relationship between technology and inequality. You will use course material (secondary source evidence) and your group's original research (primary source evidence) to argue for your perspective on the relationship between technology and inequality. You will build to this by engaging with various arguments and forms of evidence:

1. Individual Reflection 1 (5%) – DUE: Sunday, Feb 7 by 11:59pm to Canvas Assignments (one per person)
  - Write a 1-page reflection on how technology might link to inequality (including issues from the shift to online learning with the global pandemic). Be sure to define inequality and how you view the relationship between technology and inequality—as well as the basis of your belief (i.e., what evidence you draw from to support that perspective). Further instructions will be provided.
2. Individual Digital Divide Analysis Paper & Podcast Pitch (10%) – DUE: Sunday, March 14 by 11:59pm to Canvas Assignments (one per person)
  - Write one 4-page paper that compares and contrasts research on the three levels of the digital divide and issues of digital inequality beyond the divide that you read about in class
  - Type of evidence you will use: Course readings, including secondary theoretical and empirical sociological research.
  - Summarize what secondary sources say about the digital divide and the relationship between technology & inequality

- Analyze how the empirical studies support or contradict the theories
  - Also include a 1-3-sentence podcast topic pitch on which level of the divide or issues beyond the divide interests you most and how you might investigate and present these issues in a group podcast episode (not included in the 4 pages). This you will use to pitch to your group and use to develop your group podcast episode. Further instructions will be provided.
- 3. Group Podcast Episode Proposal (description of topic & structure) & Interview Questions (10%)–
GROUP PROPOSAL DUE: Sunday, Mar 28 by 11:59pm – One group member submit to Canvas by pm – BE SURE TO PUT ALL GROUP MEMBERS' NAMES ON DOCUMENT!
- Using material from your Digital Divide Analysis Paper and podcast topic pitch ideas, with your group write one 4 page podcast proposal that describes what your team will do as a semester-long project that focuses on one level of the digital divide or issue beyond the digital divides currently shaping educational inequities by race, class, gender, or other social categories or intersections of these categories. Half of the class will focus on K-12 and the other half on higher education.
  - Type of evidence you will use: Course readings, including secondary theoretical and empirical sociological research.
  - In the proposal, you will: 1) describe your topic, explain why it is important, and what is unknown about it (using course material and at least one additional research article specific to your topic as evidence of a gap), 2) describe how you will structure of your podcast (e.g., as a mystery/investigation, telling the story of people's experiences, as a way to present and debunk misconceptions), 3) ground rules for your group (e.g., how you will contact each other, where you will store files so everyone can access them, how often you'll meet outside of class, how you'll take notes/keep track of decisions), and 4) include a specific description of what each group member will do to contribute to the podcast project. Roles your group can share or distribute include production director/timekeeper, creative director/process documenter, narrator, score/music producer, audio/sound editor. Everyone will conduct at least one interview.
  - In addition to the proposal, you will submit a list of interview questions that everyone in your group will use for interviews (see next assignment below).
- 4. Individual Podcast Interview Summary & Quotes (10%) – DUE: Sunday, April 4 by 11:59pm to Canvas Assignments (one per person)
- Conduct at least one interview related to your group's podcast using group-developed interview questions.
  - Submit a summary of the interview, including: 1) basic contextual information (date of the interview, length, and demographics), 2) how the interview is relevant to the podcast topic, and 3) an overview of what was said in the interview.
  - Also include a transcript of at least three quotes from the interview (whatever seems most illustrative of what they said or captured your attention) and make a short note for each quote about why you selected it.
  - You will use your summary and quotes to help organize group editing (see next assignment below).
- 5. Group Edited Podcast Episode & Script (40% total; 10% script; 10% draft podcast; 20% final podcast) –
DRAFT SCRIPT DUE: Sunday, April 11 by 11:59pm – Submit to Canvas Assignments; DRAFT PODCAST DUE: DUE: Sunday, April 25 at 11:59pm — Submit to 1) Podcast Episode Draft discussion thread on Canvas (one per group) and 2) Canvas Assignments (one per group); FINAL PODCAST & SCRIPT DUE: Wednesday, MAY 12 by 11:59pm –ONE GROUP MEMBER SUBMIT BOTH FILES TO CANVAS ASSIGNMENTS; BE SURE TO PUT ALL GROUP MEMBERS' NAMES ON DOCUMENTS!
- Final course product will be a podcast episode & script about one form of educational inequality at one level of the digital divide (or beyond), in K-12 or college, and innovations that might address it.
  - Use secondary sources from course readings in your script (citations as footnotes) to support your perspective.

- Include at least 1 interview segment per group member
- Evaluate the Evidence: Compare & contrast the various types of evidence & the knowledge you have gained about perspectives on the relationship between technology & inequality.
- Build an argument about the relationship between technology & inequality based on your strongest evidence.
- Further instructions will be provided.

6. Individual Reflection 2 (5%) – DUE: Wednesday, May 12 by 11:59pm – Submit to Canvas Assignments (one per person)

- Look back to your first reflection and write a 2-page reflection on how your views about the link between technology and inequality have changed, if at all. Explain the basis of your current belief (i.e., what evidence you draw from to support that perspective).
- Include a statement about your contribution to the podcast, including evidence of what you did.
- Also reflect on how you think the perspective you gained over the course will inform your experiences at Emory and beyond.

II. Class Participation (20% of grade):

Class participation is very important, especially given that we will mostly be learning from a distance, but you will be working on group projects that apply the ideas from the video lectures & readings. Preparation outside of class is designed to take roughly 2-3 hours (including Canvas video lectures, readings, and prep); podcast production work outside class later in the semester will likely take more time. Additionally, to fully participate in the class, everyone is expected to:

- Attend synchronous online meetings on Thursdays 2:40-3:55pm (10%). We will meet each week to discuss 1) weekly readings and 2) group podcast projects, which will be facilitated by the instructor and TA. These meetings will be designed to: get to know group members, connect readings to project proposals, build group consensus about projects, coordinate data collection and analysis, build podcasting skills, and work on podcasts. You will be assigned a cluster (K-12 or Higher Ed) and group at the beginning of the semester and you will discuss readings and projects with your cluster & group each week on Thursdays 2:40-3:55pm. Participation in these meetings is judged by quality not quantity. If you miss no more than 3 synchronous meetings, you will receive 5 points on your grade.
- Participate in after-class discussion threads Weeks 1-6, 8, & 13 (5%). Weeks 1-6 threads are individual posts due Fridays 11:59pm. Weeks 8 & 13 are group posts—Week 8 is due Friday 11:59pm; Week 13 is due Sunday 11:59pm. Week 8 also includes individual responses to at least one group post, due Sunday 11:59pm. All posts & responses count towards your grade, so be sure to keep track! (This might sound confusing here, but all due dates/times are noted in the Class Schedule below).
- Attend online office hours once during the semester (5%). Office hours serve not only as a way to engage more deeply in the course and receive detailed feedback, they are also a space to talk about your interests, concerns, and goals—and to make connections with faculty. I invite you to join me during online office hours to about anything—including my favorite topics: all things tech-y (talk to me about robots!), culture, education, inequality, shiba inus, and ice cream. Sign up online (<https://calendly.com/drpuckett/office-hours>) for a 30-minute meeting at least 1 hour before the time you would like to meet. PLEASE NOTE: There is a password for entry, provided in the sign up.

**PLEASE NOTE: This semester due to the pandemic, some students might fall ill. If you are sick, understand that I will be flexible about participation. Please make sure to email me so that we can discuss your individual circumstances.

GRADE CONVERSION

100-94	A
93-90	A-
89-87	B+
86-84	B
83-80	B-
79-77	C+
76-74	C
73-70	C-
69-67	D+
66-60	D
≤ 59	F

---

COURSE RESOURCES

There is no required text for this course. All assigned course materials will be provided on Canvas: <https://canvas.emory.edu> Log in, then click on Sociology 389 – Section 4. This site will include videos, readings, and assignments. Any important announcements will also be posted on this site.

In terms of technologies, each person in the course will need to access some type of recording device for interviews. You can use your computer as a recording device with QuickTime or Zoom (which can also transcribe audio); phones can record as well (but tend to not record as well).

---

SOME GROUND RULESGeneral Communication

I provide very detailed information and instructions in all of the course documents. I will also post periodic videos and announcements on Canvas about any further course information.

- Please read all of the written Course communications thoroughly!
- If you have questions after you have read everything in a particular course document (syllabus, paper instructions, study guide), then feel free to ask me.

Email Communication:

I try to respond to emails as soon as possible (i.e., within 24 hours). However, I generally do not answer emails outside of normal business hours (i.e., on weekends or after 6pm at night).

General & Online Conduct (Netiquette):

Please be mindful of the general code of conduct that you would use in any class. We should all be respectful of one another.

General Online Conduct: Think of being online as an extension of class. Be respectful in tone and in language; use proper grammar and be professional (e.g., using only your own original ideas) in your posts (see the note on plagiarism below). Respectful communication promotes intellectual exchange and learning, particularly online. Someone might have different ideas from you—challenging one's interpretations is the core mechanism of scholarly progress. For more on netiquette, see:

<https://www.education.com/reference/article/netiquette-rules-behavior-internet/>

Synchronous Meetings (Thursdays): Please arrive on time to the meetings. To the best of your ability, it would be good to see your face, as you will be discussing readings and working with your classmates to produce podcasts, so please plan to keep your video and sound on, at the very least while speaking. But let me know if you experience any tech difficulties or have any other considerations in terms of interacting online with classmates.

Late Assignments & Missed Classes: You are responsible for missed material and for meeting deadlines. If you have an urgent need for an extension (e.g., illness), please notify me at least 24 hours in advance. As noted above, if you have no more than three unexcused meeting absences, you will receive 5 additional points on your overall grade. I'm incentivizing this because your classmates and I need you in class, so you can work with a group to produce your podcast and get the most out of the class. But of course, if you fall ill, I will be flexible about participation. Please make sure to email me so that we can discuss your individual circumstances.

Video/Audio: Our class sessions on Zoom will all be audio visually recorded for students in the class to refer back to the information, and for enrolled students who are unable to attend live. All videos posted on Canvas are for the sole purpose of educating the students enrolled in the course. The release of such information (including but not limited to directly sharing, screen capturing, or recording content) is prohibited. Doing so without the permission of the instructor will be considered an Honor Code violation and may also be a violation of other state and federal laws, such as the Copyright Act.

OTHER IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Writing Center Support for Emory College Students:

The full Emory Writing Center staff of undergraduate tutors and graduate fellows is available remotely this spring to support Emory College students as they work on any type of writing assignment in any field: sciences, social sciences, or humanities. Tutors can assist with a range of projects, from traditional papers and presentations to websites and other multimedia projects (this includes podcast scripts!!). They work with students on concerns including idea development, structure, use of sources, grammar, and word choice. They do not proofread for students. Instead, they discuss strategies and resources students can use as they write, revise, and edit their own work. Tutors also support the literacy needs of English Language Learners; several tutors are ELL Specialists, who have received additional training. The online Writing Center opens for the spring semester on Feb 8, with hours throughout the day to accommodate students in various time zones. Learn more and make an appointment at writingcenter.emory.edu. Please note that you need to make (and cancel) appointments at least 3 hours in advance to accommodate remote staff. Please review tutoring policies, including policies and procedures for distance appts before your visit.

Accommodating Disabilities:

If you have or acquire any sort of condition that may require special accommodation(s), you must register with ADSR; please see the instructions at <http://equityandinclusion.emory.edu/access/students/index.html>

Then, please follow all of ADSR's steps for your accommodations, and notify me as soon as possible so that we may make the appropriate arrangements. Proper documentation from the Office of Access, Disability Services and Resources (ADSR) will be required.

Academic Conduct:

Emory College has established an Honor Code outlining an appropriate code of conduct with respect to academic honesty and plagiarism. Information on Emory's Honor code can be accessed at:

<http://catalog.college.emory.edu/academic/policies-regulations/honor-code.html>

See more specific code on plagiarism here:

<http://www.english.emory.edu/home/undergraduate/plagiarism.html>

It is your responsibility to familiarize yourself with the policies and procedures of the university, and violation of these policies will result in referral to the Honor Council. Plagiarism and cheating will not be tolerated. You must ensure that you cite references appropriately in your written work. When you paraphrase from others, cite their work in the text, and reference the citation in your bibliography. When you use direct quotes, be sure to insert quotation marks around the borrowed text and cite appropriately.

Honor Code Statement: I pledge to pursue all academic endeavors with honor and integrity. I understand the principles of the Emory College Honor System, and I promise to uphold these standards by adhering to the Honor Code in order to preserve the integrity of Emory College and its individual members.

---

CLASS SCHEDULE
(subject to change)

I. INTRODUCTION TO THE COURSE

Week 1:      Objective: Discuss the course & semester-long project

Jan 26 (T):      Videos: About the course, about me

Readings (check Canvas for discussion questions):

Digital Inequality Syllabus (i.e., this document)

Puckett, Cassidy. "Introduction," in The Geek Instinct: The Technology Learning Habits of Tech Savvy Teens. (~20 min read)

Podcast prep:

- Review description of NPR Student Podcast Challenge: College Edition
<https://www.npr.org/2020/10/14/921143789/the-npr-student-podcast-challenge-college-edition> (~5 min read)
- Find a podcast episode that you like and be ready to describe in a few sentences what you like about it (in class discussion & in a synopsis on the "Good Podcast Episode" discussion thread on Canvas). This could be an episode picked from past NPR Student Podcast Challenge finalists: <https://www.npr.org/2020/05/27/862792242/best-of-the-best-here-are-the-finalists-in-the-npr-student-podcast-challenge>

Jan 28 (Th):      Meeting: Bring at least one podcast episode (about anything) to class that you like & be ready to describe it in a few sentences.

After class, by Friday 11:59pm: Post your podcast episode & synopsis to the "Good Podcast Episode" discussion thread on Canvas; listen to at least one other podcast episode someone recommended. NOTE: The more you listen to podcasts, the better your ear will be for what works/what doesn't work—and it will give your group touchstone episodes to model in your work.

Individual Reflection guidelines handed out

II. INEQUALITY, THE DIGITAL DIVIDE, & BEYOND THE DIGITAL DIVIDE

INEQUALITY

Week 2: Objectives: Discuss research and debates about inequality in the U.S.; investigate podcasts related to inequality in the U.S.

Feb 2 (T): Videos: What do we know about inequality in general & about educational inequality, specifically? How is technology related to inequality?

Readings (check Canvas for discussion questions):

Grusky, David B. 2011. "The Stories About Inequality That We Love to Tell." Pp. 2-14 in The Inequality Reader: Contemporary And Foundational Readings in Race, Class, and Gender, Second Edition, edited by David B. Grusky and Szonja Szelényi. Boulder, CO: Westview Press (~20 min read)

Fry, Richard, Bennett, Jesse, and Amanda Barroso. 2021. "Racial and Ethnic Gaps in the U.S. Persist on Key Demographic Indicators." Pew Research Center. <https://www.pewresearch.org/interactives/racial-and-ethnic-gaps-in-the-u-s-persist-on-key-demographic-indicators/> (~5 min read; also investigate the data visualization—read online)

Robinson, Laura, Sheila R. Cotten, Hiroshi Onoc, Anabel Quan-Haased, Gustavo Mesche, Wenhong Chen, Jeremy Schulzg, Timothy M. Haleh, and Michael J. Ster. 2015. "Digital Inequalities and Why They Matter." Information, Communication & Society 18(5):569-82 (~30 min read)

Podcast prep:

- Listen to the introductory episodes of the Students' Podcast (a podcast about how to make podcasts; ~40 min total):
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "Introducing the Student Podcast Challenge" The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/01/09/795052489/introducing-the-student-podcast-challenge> (2:05)
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "How to Make a Podcast According to Last Year's Winners" The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/01/17/797327454/how-to-make-a-podcast-according-to-last-years-winners> (12:39)
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "Follow the Rules and You Just Might Win the Student Podcast Challenge." The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/01/24/799421360/follow-the-rules-and-you-just-might-win-the-student-podcast-challenge> (11:34)
  - National Public Radio. 2021. "Let's Investigate." The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2021/01/02/952936624/lets-investigate> (12:54)

- Find a podcast episode about inequality and be ready to describe it in a few sentences (you don't necessarily have to like it; you can describe what you like and don't like about it).

Feb 4 (Th): Meeting: Bring at least one podcast episode about inequality to class

Final Podcast guidelines & rubric handed out. These are based on NPR's Student Podcast Challenge: College Edition (link above), as well as course requirements. We will use the guidelines & rubric to talk about all of the podcast episodes we listen to during the semester; it will also help you develop your podcast episode.

After class, by Friday 11:59pm: Post your podcast about inequality to the "Inequality Podcasts" discussion thread on Canvas; listen to your group-chosen podcast episode about inequality. You can also listen to any others that seem interesting from your group or other groups.

DUE: Sunday Feb 7 by 11:59pm - Individual Reflection 1 – Submit to Canvas Assignments (one per person)

1ST LEVEL DIVIDE

Week 3: Objectives: Discuss research and debates about the levels of the digital divide; investigate podcasts related to the first level divide

Feb 9 (T): Videos: What are the three levels of the digital divide? Where did concern about the first "digital divide" come from? Do we still have a first level divide?

Readings (check Canvas for discussion questions):

Campos-Castillo, Celeste. 2015. "Revisiting the First-Level Digital Divide in the United States: Gender and Race/Ethnicity Patterns, 2007–2012." Social Science Computer Review 33(4):423-39. (~30 min read)

Carlson, Edward, and Justin Gross. 2016. "The State of the Urban/Rural Digital Divide." Washington, D.C.: National Telecommunications and Information Administration. <https://www.ntia.doc.gov/blog/2016/state-urbanrural-digital-divide> (~10 min read)

Gonzales, Amy. 2015. "The Contemporary US Digital Divide: From Initial Access to Technology Maintenance." Information, Communication & Society 19(2):234-48. (~30 min read)

Podcast prep: Find a podcast episode about the first level digital divide (access) and be ready to describe it in a few sentences.

Feb 11 (Th): Meeting: Bring at least one podcast episode about the first level digital divide (access) to class

Digital Divide Analysis Paper & Podcast Pitch guidelines handed out

After class, by Friday 11:59pm: Post your podcast about the first level digital divide to the "First Level Digital Divide Podcasts" discussion thread on Canvas; listen to your group-chosen podcast episode about the first level digital divide. You can also listen to any others that seem interesting from your group or other groups.

2ND LEVEL DIVIDE

Week 4: Objectives: Discuss research and debates about the second level divide; investigate podcasts related to the second level divide

Feb 16 (T): Videos: What is the second level divide? What are critiques of the second level divide? What are some continuing problems with the second level divide?

Readings (check Canvas for discussion questions):

Hargittai, Eszter. 2011. "The Digital Reproduction of Inequality." Pp. 660-70 in The Inequality Reader: Contemporary and Foundational Readings in Race, Class, and Gender, Second Edition, edited by David B. Grusky and Szonja Szelényi. Boulder, CO: Westview Press. (~20 min read)

Puckett, Cassidy. 2019. "CS4Some? Differences in Technology Learning Readiness." Harvard Educational Review. (~40 min read)

Margolis, Jane, Rachel Estrella, Joanna Goode, Jennifer Jellison Holme, and Kimberly Nao. 2017(2008). Stuck in the Shallow End. Cambridge, MA: MIT Press (1 hour read).

- Introduction, "The Myth of Technology as the 'Great Equalizer'," p. 1-16.
- Chapter 1, "An Unlikely Metaphor," p. 17-25.
- Chapter 4, "Claimed Spaces: 'Preparatory Privilege' and High School Computer Science," p. 71-95.

Podcast prep: Find a podcast episode about the second level digital divide (skill) and be ready to describe it in a few sentences.

REST DAY – WEDNESDAY, FEB 17

Feb 18 (Th): Meeting: Bring at least one podcast episode about the second level digital divide (skill) to class

Course Pulse Check 1 (anonymous survey in class)

After class, by Friday 11:59pm: Post your podcast about the second level digital divide to the "Second Level Digital Divide Podcasts" discussion thread on Canvas; listen to your group-chosen podcast episode about the second level digital divide. You can also listen to any others that seem interesting from your group or other groups.

3RD LEVEL DIVIDE

Week 5: Objectives: Discuss research and debates about the third level divide; investigate podcasts related to the third level divide

Feb 23 (T): Videos: What is the third level divide? What are some critiques of the idea of the third level divide?

Readings (check Canvas for discussion questions):

van Deursen, Alexander J.A.M., and Ellen J. Helsper. 2015. "The Third-Level Digital Divide: Who Benefits Most from Being Online?" Pp. 29-52 in Communication and Information Technologies Annual Studies in Media and Communications, edited by Laura Robinson, Shelia R. Cotten, Jeremy Schulz, Timothy M. Hale, and Apryl Williams. Bingley, U.K.: Emerald Group Publishing Limited. (~30 min read)

Rafalow, Matthew H. 2018. "Disciplining Play: Digital Youth Culture as Capital at School." American Journal of Sociology 123(5):1416-52. (~40 min read)

Thompson, Clive. 2019. "The Secret History of Women in Coding." New York Times Magazine. (Read online for additional links/information: <https://www.nytimes.com/2019/02/13/magazine/women-coding-computer-programming.html>) (~30 min read)

Kotamraju, Nalini P. 2004. "Art Versus Code: The Gendered Evolution of Web Design Skills." Pp. 189-200 in Society Online: The Internet in Context, edited by Philip N. Howard and Steve Jones. Thousand Oaks, CA: Sage Publications. (~20 min read)

Podcast prep: Find a podcast episode about the third level digital divide (return on access & skill) and be ready to describe it in a few sentences.

Feb 25 (Th): Meeting: Bring at least one podcast episode about the third level digital divide (return on access & skill) to class

After class, by Friday 11:59pm: Post your podcast about the third level digital divide to the "Third Level Digital Divide Podcasts" discussion thread on Canvas; listen to your group-chosen podcast episode about the third level digital divide. You can also listen to any others that seem interesting from your group or other groups.

DIGITAL INEQUALITY BEYOND THE LEVELS OF THE DIGITAL DIVIDE & PODCAST PLANNING

Week 6: Objectives: Discuss issues of digital inequality beyond the digital divide, focusing on racism & classism structured into technologies. Brainstorm podcast topic ideas.

Mar 2 (T): Videos: What are digital inequality issues beyond the three levels of the digital divide?

Readings (check Canvas for discussion questions):

Benjamin, Ruha. 2019. Race After Technology: Abolitionist Tools for the New Jim Code. Medford, MA: Polity. (~30 min read)
 ○ Introduction, p. 1-48

Moran-Thomas, Amy. 2020. "How a Popular Medical Device Encodes Racial Bias." Boston Review. August 5. <https://tinyurl.com/boston-review> (Also on Canvas as .pdf, ~30 min read)

Umoja Noble, Safiya. 2018. Algorithms of Oppression: How Search Engines Reinforce Racism. New York, NY: NYU Press (~45 min read).

- Introduction, p. 1-14.
- “Searching for Black Girls,” p. 64-109.

Eubanks, Virginia. 2018. Automating Inequality: How High-Tech Tools Profile, Police, and Punish the Poor. New York: Picador (~30 min read).

- “Automating Eligibility in the Heartland,” p. 39-83.

Podcast prep:

- Read about podcast topic selection & equity:
  - Socolovsky, Jerome and Keith Woods. 2020. “During the Pandemic, Cover Those We’ve Left Out.” NPR Training <https://training.npr.org/2020/04/14/during-the-pandemic-cover-those-weve-left-out/> (~5 min read)

Mar 4 (Th): Meeting: Bring at least one podcast episode about issues of digital inequality beyond the digital divide to class

After class, by Friday 11:59pm: Post your podcast about issues beyond the digital divide to the “Issues Beyond the Digital Divide Podcasts” discussion thread on Canvas; listen to your group-chosen podcast episode about issues beyond the digital divide. You can also listen to any others that seem interesting from your group or other groups.

Week 7: Objectives: Synthesize arguments about the digital divides and issues beyond the divides; complete Digital Divide Analysis Paper & Podcast Pitch

Mar 9 (T): Videos: How can we understand digital inequality?

Readings (check Canvas for discussion questions):

Puckett, Cassidy. Forthcoming. “Chapter 1: Understanding Digital Inequality” in The Geek Instinct. University of Chicago Press. (~20 min read)

Light, Jennifer. 2001. “Rethinking the Digital Divide.” Harvard Educational Review 71(4):710-34. (~30 min read)

Also: Examples of Digital Divide Analysis papers on Canvas

Podcast prep:

- Read about selecting a podcast episode topic & imagining the story:
  - Chin, Teresa. 2018. “1. Coming up with an idea.” In Youth Radio DIY: How to Make a Podcast <https://yr.media/diy/diy-toolkit-how-to-make-a-podcast/> (~5 min read)
  - Macadam, Allison. 2016. “Beyond the 5 W’s: What Should You Ask Before Starting a Story?” NPR Training <https://training.npr.org/2016/12/13/beyond-the-5ws-what-should-you-ask-before-starting-a-story/> (~5 min read)
  - Rosenthal, Rob. 2011. “Imagining The Story.” Transom <https://transom.org/2011/rob-rosenthal-imagining-the-story/> (~5 min read) [NOTE: Transom is an award-winning organization that provides training and mentorship for public broadcasting, including professional workshops – if you’re interested in pursuing this further, you might look into this organization. They also have a podcast.]

- Listen to a description of the winners of NPR's Student Podcast Challenge (middle & high school):
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "The Winners of NPR's Student Podcast Challenge" The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/06/25/883652727/the-winners-of-nprs-student-podcast-challenge> (14:35)

Mar 11 (Th): Meeting: Bring questions you have about the three levels of the digital divide & issues beyond the divide to class

After class: Finish your Digital Divides Analysis Paper & Podcast Pitch

DUE: Sunday, March 14 by 11:59pm – Digital Divide Analysis Paper & Podcast Pitch - Submit to Canvas Assignments (one per person)

III. WAYS TO ADDRESS DIGITAL INEQUALITY & PODCAST PLANNING

Week 8: Objectives: Discuss ways of addressing the first & second level divides; pitch podcast ideas and start working on group podcast episode proposal

NO ASSIGNMENT WEEK

REST DAY – TUESDAY, MAR 16

Videos: How do we address the first & second level divides?

Readings (check Canvas for discussion questions):

McCray, Vanessa. 2018. " Metro Atlanta Schools Address 'Digital Divide'." in Atlanta Journal-Constitution. Atlanta, GA. (~10 min read)

Puckett, Cassidy. The Geek Instinct. (~1 hour read)

- Chapter 6, "Addressing Digital Inequality"
- Conclusion

Washinton Post Live. 2020. "Confronting America's Digital Divide" September 30. **Transcript is on Canvas; also viewable as a video here: <https://tinyurl.com/wapo-divide> **You can watch the whole hour-long special or read the whole transcript, as background for your podcasts. But, if your time is limited, just read/watch the interview with John B. King, Jr. who was 10th Education Secretary during the Obama Administration (~15 min; starts at 39 minutes into the video).

Podcast prep:

- Read about podcast story structure:
  - National Public Radio. 2018. "Starting Your Podcast: A Guide for Students." NPR Student Podcast Challenge <https://www.npr.org/2018/11/15/662070097/starting-your-podcast-a-guide-for-students> (Read up to "What Makes a Good Interview?" — note the section on sounds & consider how you might record ambient sound during or after interviews) (~10 min read)

- Smith, Robert. 2016. "Understanding Story Structure in 4 Drawings." NPR Training <https://training.npr.org/2016/03/02/understanding-story-structure-in-4-drawings/> (~20 min, including listening to the excerpts)
- Syme, Rachel. 2020. "How We Lie to Ourselves about History." New Yorker: <https://www.newyorker.com/magazine/2020/10/19/how-we-lie-to-ourselves-about-history> (also on Canvas as .pdf) (~10 min read)

Mar 18 (Th): Meeting: Groups will meet and members will pitch podcast episode ideas (described at the end of your Digital Divides Analysis Paper), so come prepared to make that pitch! Your group will decide what you'd like to produce, or if you want to create an episode based on multiple ideas from the group. You will also discuss ideas for your podcast structure, based on this week's readings and start to work on your group proposal. Before next week's meeting be sure to draft interview questions that you will practice in class with other groups next week.

Course Pulse Check 2 (anonymous survey in class)

After class, post by Friday 11:59pm; comment by Sunday 11:59pm: Post a synopsis of your group podcast topic & structure on the "Podcast Synopsis" discussion thread on Canvas. Leave feedback on at least one other post (e.g. "I like this, I'd listen" "Did you think about X?" "I've heard a podcast called X that mentioned something about this." "You might want to try structuring this episode like X podcast.").

Week 9: Objectives: Discuss ways of addressing the third level divide & issues beyond the divide; complete podcast episode proposal & prep for interviews

Mar 23 (T): Videos: How do we address the 3rd level divide & issues beyond the divides?

Readings (check Canvas for discussion questions):

Buolamwini, Joy, and Timnit Gebru. 2018. "Gender Shades: Intersectional Accuracy Disparities in Commercial Gender Classification." Pp. 1-15 in Proceedings of Machine Learning Research. (~30 min read)

- Also watch Buolamwini's Ted Talk on Algorithmic Justice League website (~8 mins): <https://www.ajlunited.org/>

Harry, Sydette. 2021. "Listening to Black Women: The Innovation Tech Can't Figure Out." WIRED, January 11. <https://www.wired.com/story/listening-to-black-women-the-innovation-tech-cant-figure-out> (~20 min read; also .pdf on Canvas)

See also: "Tech and Social Justice Initiatives" posted on Ruha Benjamin's website: <https://www.ruhabenjamin.com/resources>

Podcast prep:

National Public Radio. 2020. "Boring Questions Make Boring Answers" The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/12/04/943098360/boring-questions-make-boring-answers> (11:55)

Mar 25 (Th): Meeting: Come to class with interview questions to practice with other groups, so you can edit them for your Podcast Episode Proposal & Interview Question assignment (due Sunday).

After class: Finish your group on your podcast proposal (topic, structure) and list of interview questions

DUE: Sunday, Mar 28 at 11:59pm - Group Podcast Episode Proposal & Interview Questions - Submit to Canvas Assignments (one per group; all names on document)

VII. PODCAST PRODUCTION

Week 10: Objectives: Prep & conduct interviews & record ambient sound; write Interview Summary & Quotes

Mar 30 (T): Podcast prep:

- Read & listen to podcasts about interviewing:
  - Seidman, Irving. 2006. "Technique Isn't Everything, But It Is a Lot" Pp. 63-78 in Interviewing As Qualitative Research: A Guide for Researchers in Education and the Social Sciences. 3rd ed. New York: Teachers College Press (.pdf on Canvas; ~30 min).
  - National Public Radio. 2018. "Starting Your Podcast: A Guide for Students." NPR Student Podcast Challenge <https://www.npr.org/2018/11/15/662070097/starting-your-podcast-a-guide-for-students> (Read "What Makes a Good Interview?" section to "Scripting Your Podcast") (~10 min read)
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "The Art of the Interview" The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/03/06/812934447/the-art-of-the-interview> (9:33)
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "Need Some Emotional Support?" The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/12/18/948182855/need-some-emotional-support> (11:41)
- Read & listen to podcasts about picking quotes/editing tape:
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "Too Much Tape" The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/12/26/950518762/too-much-tape> (10:30)
  - Socolovsky, Jerome. 2019. "How to Decide What to Cut (Or Not) in an Interview." NPR Training <https://training.npr.org/2019/11/12/deciding-what-parts-of-an-interview-to-cut-here-are-some-guidelines/> (~10 min read)

Apr 1 (Th): NO MEETING; DO INTERVIEW & WORK ON ASSIGNMENT (NO APRIL FOOLS' DAY JOKE!)

DUE: Sunday, April 4 at 11:59pm – Individual Interview Summary & Quotes – Submit to Canvas Assignments (one per person)

Week 11: Objectives: Write Podcast Episode Script Draft using material from Digital Divides Analysis Paper and Interview Summary & Quotes

Apr 6 (T): Podcast prep:

- Read about why transcripts are important, what they look like, & how to structure narrative:

- Shalom, Dalit. 2019. "From Audio Waves to Words: Episodes of "The Daily" Now Come With Transcripts." New York Times Open. January 30.
<https://open.nytimes.com/from-audio-waves-to-words-episodes-of-the-daily-now-come-with-transcripts-298ab8cb9481> (~5 min read) **You can see the transcript on The Daily podcast by clicking on the "transcript" button in the center of colored screen. The transcript to this 22:03 episode is posted on Canvas, as an example; you don't have to listen to the episode; you can just use this as an example for your script: <https://www.nytimes.com/2021/01/06/podcasts/the-daily/georgia-senate-race-warnock-ossoff.html>
- Macadam, Allison. 2016. "How Audio Stories Begin." NPR Training <https://training.npr.org/2016/07/26/how-audio-stories-begin/> (~45 min read/listen, including excerpts; also check out links for how to structure intros)
- Macadam, Allison. 2016. "'Once Upon a Time' and Other Devices for Starting Your Story." NPR Training <https://training.npr.org/2015/02/18/beginnings-where-do-i-start-my-audio-story/> (~5 min read, although there are also example links to check out)
- Work on script draft with your group, using interview quote transcripts (due Sun)

Apr 8 (Th): Meeting: In class, groups work on scripts.

After class: As a group, continue to work on script due Sunday.

DUE: Sunday, April 11 at 11:59pm – Podcast Episode Script Draft – Submit to Canvas Assignments (one per group; all names on document)

Week 12: Objectives: Record narration. If time, score & mix podcast

Apr 13 (T): Podcast prep (for this week & next week):

- Listen to podcasts/watch videos about recording narration:
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "The Surprising Secret To Good Sound" The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/01/31/801729780/the-surprising-secret-to-great-sound> (9:53)
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "Finding Your Voice" The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/02/07/803841798/finding-your-voice> (8:50)
  - National Public Radio. 2017. "Three Tips for Training Your Voice" NPR Training Video. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=cSTqKi7Wug4> (9:12). Note that some of this repeats the podcast episodes above, but provides more detail & visuals
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "How to Sound Great" NPR Student Podcast Challenge (Video). <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=sfgbtBBumjo> (3:38). Note that some of this repeats the podcast episodes above but provides more detail & visuals. Includes Don Gonyea explaining how to construct a pillow fort recording studio 😊
- Listen to podcasts about scoring your podcast:
  - National Public Radio. 2020. "Everything You Need to Know About Music in Your Podcast" The Students' Podcast

<https://www.npr.org/2020/02/13/805858075/everything-you-need-to-know-about-using-music-in-your-podcast> (8:54)

- National Public Radio. 2020. "How to Make Music for Your Podcast" The Students' Podcast <https://www.npr.org/2020/02/21/808298974/how-to-make-music-for-your-podcast> (10:46)
- Read/watch video about mixing your podcast:
  - Byers, Rob. 2018. "How to Mix: 8 Steps to Master the Art of Mixing Audio Stories" NPR Training <https://training.npr.org/2018/10/31/mixing-diy/> This follows an 11:15 minute training video. Note that the video uses ProTools in the example, but it follows a similar structure as the Audacity video below, on Canvas.
- Watch Canvas video: How do you mix using Audacity?
- Using these trainings, work as a group to record narration (tracks). If you have time, start to score and start mixing your podcast.

REST DAY – WEDNESDAY, APR 14

Apr 15 (Th): Meeting: Bring your podcast in production; check in with questions/meet with your group

After class: As a group, work on scoring & mixing your podcast

Week 13: Objective: Finish mixing podcast

Apr 20 (T): Podcast prep: Refer to resources (podcasts, videos, readings) from previous week and work as a group on scoring & mixing your podcast—mixing will take time!

Apr 22 (Th): Meeting: Bring your podcast in production; check in with questions/meet with your group

After class: As a group, continue to work on mixing your podcast

DUE: Sunday, April 25 at 11:59pm – Draft of Podcast Episode – Submit to 1) Podcast Episode Draft discussion thread on Canvas (one per group) and 2) Canvas Assignments (one per group)

Week 14: Objective: Peer review draft podcast episodes

Apr 27 (T): Postcast prep: Listen to partner group podcast episode, fill out rubric, and come to class ready to discuss

Apr 29 (Th): Meeting: In class, groups will peer review draft podcast episodes

After class: As a group, edit your podcast & script

May 12 (Wed): Final Podcast Episode & Final Script – One group member submit *BOTH FILES* to Canvas Assignments by 11:59pm

May 12 (Wed): Reflection 2 - Submit to Canvas Assignments (one per person) by 11:59pm

PLEASE NOTE:

Once your podcast is submitted, I will upload it to a class website for syndication & send your group a link. If your group would like to enter next year's NPR Student Podcast Challenge: College Edition (deadline likely Feb 2022), please let me know and I can submit the entry—or your group may do it. I can also change the file if you would like to edit it before you submit (I will send a reminder email in the fall):

<https://www.npr.org/2020/10/14/921143789/the-npr-student-podcast-challenge-college-edition>

Congrats on all of your hard work this semester!