Fee Proposal – June 2015

Name of Programme

MSc Inclusive Education

School

Moray House School of Education

Level of Study

Postgraduate taught

Proposed Fee

Tuition fees will be at point 0 on the University fee spine based on revised 2015/2016 fees (EU, £8,100; non-EU, £16,500) for 180 academic credits. The fees for Certificate / Diploma / MSc study will align with those standard within Moray House School of Education.

There are additional bench fees of £500 for the PG Diploma Inclusive Education (deaf learners) and the PG Diploma Inclusive Education (visually impaired learners) to meet costs of specialist assessments and placement supervision. See the APC forms in section 2 below.

Costs have been calculated course by course for the existing programmes (MSc Inclusive and Special Education & MEd Additional Support for Learning). Taken as a whole the current programmes are breaking even. The Estimated Direct Cost in Section 3 is based on:

- £3,000 Marketing budget per year for the new programme
- 1,000 Materials budget per year
- Credit of APCs for relevant students on deaf / VI programmes
- Full cost to the school of teaching the new programme

Rationale for fee level

Student recruitment (see below extract from Programme proposal) has been based on current intakes on comparable courses in the UK. These are annotated in the Programme proposal document (5.2, p.11).

Fees are in line with the revised School fees for postgraduate taught courses for 2015/2016.

Table of comparable fees – see Section 3 below.

The projected numbers may appear comparably optimistic in light of the fee level, but it is hoped that the preference among Scottish students to remain in Scotland, the international appeal of both the University of Edinburgh and the City of Edinburgh, and the international profile of the staff in the area of Inclusive Education will attract the projected student numbers.

With the combination of fee level, proposed recruitment targets and minimal delivery costs over and above staffing, this presents a favourable business case for the programme. We do however perceive that it will be necessary to revisit projected student numbers and fee levels on an annual basis.
