Section V- Schedule of Requirements

1. +

1.1 Introduction

- 1.1 The Unique Identification Authority of India (UIDAI) has been mandated with the responsibility of issuing Unique Identification Numbers to all Residents of India and to provide authentication services. In India, an inability to prove identity is one of the biggest barriers preventing the poor from accessing benefits and subsidies. Public as well as private sector agencies across the country typically require proof of identity before providing individuals with services. But till date, there remains no nationally accepted, verifiable identity number that both residents and agencies can use with ease and confidence.
- 1.2 As a result, every time an individual tries to access a benefit or service, they must undergo a full cycle of identity verification. Different service providers also often have different requirements in the documents they demand, the forms that require filling out, and the information they collect on the individual.
- 1.3 Such duplication of effort and 'identity silos' increase overall costs of identification and cause extreme inconvenience to the individual. This approach is especially unfair to India's poor and underprivileged residents, who usually lack documentation, and find it difficult to meet the costs of multiple verification processes.
- 1.4 There are clearly, immense benefits from a mechanism that uniquely identifies a person, and ensures instant identity verification. The need to prove identity only once will bring down transaction costs for the poor. A clear identity number would also transform the delivery of social welfare programs by making them more inclusive of communities now cut off from such benefits due to their lack of identification. It would enable the government to shift from indirect to direct benefits, and help verify whether the intended beneficiaries actually receive funds/subsidies.
- 1.5 A single, universal identity number will also be transformational in eliminating fraud and duplicate identities, since individuals will no longer be able to represent themselves differently to different agencies. This will result in significant savings to the state exchequer.
- 1.6 As a part of building its technology infrastructure, the UIDAI has set up a Technology Centre at Bangalore. UIDAI require technical manpower of prescribed skills for the Authentication support services of the Purchaser. The details of Manpower Resources required, their job descriptions, technical qualifications, professional experience and skill sets required are described at Annexure – Job Descriptions and Requirements.

2. Key Stake Holders Involved in the Project

- 2.1 This RFP is being issued by the Purchaser for hiring of Manpower Resources teams for UIDAI. The stake holders include the Organization of the UIDAI, Planning Commission, Government of India and all the Partners and Registrars who will come on board for the exercise of assigning a unique identification number to all residents of India.

3. Objective

- 3.1. The Purchaser intends to hire the experienced software professional for the Authentication support services of the Purchaser through the issue of this RFP to the Consultants empanelled by the Purchaser.
- 3.2. The Selected Consultant (s) shall be responsible for providing software professionals for the Authentication support services of the Purchaser. The Selected Consultant (s) shall have to deploy the Software Professionals at the respective locations of the Purchaser, immediately upon the notification of award and not later than the time limit indicated at Clause 22.5.4 of Section III (Other Terms and Conditions).
- 3.3. The Bidders will provide Manpower resources to staff the Authentication support services of the Purchaser. The respective team will function as the part of UIDAI and full time internal resources for UIDAI Project. The resources hired will be subject to the Service Conditions (Leave, Holidays etc.) as laid down by the UIDAI.

4. Project Overview

- 4.1. UIDAI has been setup by the Govt. of India with a mandate to issue a Unique Identification (UID) numbers to all the residents in the country. UIDAI proposes to create a platform to first collect the identity details and then to perform authentication that can be used by several government and commercial service providers. A key requirement of the UID system is to minimize/eliminate duplicate identity in order to improve the efficacy of the service delivery. UIDAI has selected biometrics feature set as the primary method to check for duplicate identity. In order to ensure that an individual is uniquely identified in an easy and cost-effective manner, it is necessary to ensure that the captured biometric information is capable of carrying out the de-duplication at the time of collection of information. For government and commercial providers to authenticate the identity at the time of service delivery, it is necessary that the biometric information capture and transmission are standardized across all the partners and users of the UID system.
- 4.2. India will be the first country to implement a biometric-based unique ID system and online authentication for its residents on such a large scale. The UID will serve as a universal proof of identity, allowing residents to prove their credentials anywhere in the country through an online authentication service. Online authentication with biometric check creates a very strong authentication system and gives the UIDAI significant ability to confirm an individual's identity.

5. Technology Challenges

- 5.1 Challenge of collecting demographic and biometric data of 1.2 plus billion residents, ensuring uniqueness through biometric de-duplication, and providing an open API based secure authentication mechanism to support 100 plus million authentication requests that can respond in sub-seconds pose enormous technology challenge. In addition, securing the data all the way from enrolment, data transmission, and to the UID server is of utmost importance to the whole system.

RFP Document No.

- 5.2 Over all, this system needs to deal with extreme computational challenges, security challenges, and manage data to the size of 10 peta bytes requires a system that is architected for high-compute, high-performance, and high-security environments.

6. UIDAI Authentication Overview

Aadhaar Authentication enable residents to prove their identity based on the demographic and/ or biometric information, thus making the process of identification convenient and accurate. Aadhaar Authentication shall make life simpler for residents and eliminate the distress and inconvenience in establishing their identity for availing services.

Aadhaar Authentication supports:

- Demographic Matching
- Biometric Matching and
- Additional features such as One-Time-PIN (OTP)

Demographic matching refers to the usage of Aadhaar Authentication system for matching Aadhaar number and the demographic attributes (name, address, date of birth, gender, etc. as per API specifications) of a resident in the CIDR with the data in the AUA's database or with demographic data submitted at the point of authentication.

Biometric Matching refers to the usage of Aadhaar Authentication for matching the biometric attributes of a resident in the CIDR to the biometric data submitted by the resident on an authentication device.

In case of matching using One-Time-PIN (OTP) an OTP is sent to the registered mobile phone number of the resident seeking Aadhaar Authentication. The OTP shall have a limited validity. The resident shall provide this OTP during authentication and the same shall be matched with the OTP at the CIDR.

Authentication Server: Software required to manage online authentication requests from various UID-enabled applications. This is a completely API based, secure, high-performance (sub-second) biometric and non-biometric authentication against the UID system. This server is expected to server 100+ million requests in about 10 hour window. For high-availability and scalability, this software module should support dynamic load-balancing, distributed deployments in secure networks across data centers.

7. UIDAI Authentication Team

The Authentication support services are proposed to be deployed at UIDAI Regional Offices for implementation support of UID Authentications related Solutions and Applications. The constitution of team is given in Technical Proposal Form 4.4. Team is expected to manage the project plan and deliver assigned tasks in given project schedule.
