

Mood Disorders Questionnaire (MDQ)

This is a test for bipolar disorder developed by a team of leading bipolar researchers. The MDQ is widely known and used. You'll learn how to score this test when you're done, but remember, even a "positive" test result does not mean you have bipolar disorder. You'll see why when we come to scoring your results.

Here are the 3 sections. For section 1, write down the numbers 1-13 on a piece of paper and answer each question with a yes or no (or you can just print this page). Answer section 2 with a yes or no. Choose the answer in section 3 that best fits your situation and write it down.

1	Has there ever been a period of time when you were not your usual self (while not on drugs or alcohol) and -	YES	NO
	- you felt so good or so hyper that other people thought you were not your normal self or you were so hyper that you got into trouble?	YES	NO
	- you were so irritable that you shouted at people or started fights or arguments?	YES	NO

2	If you checked YES to more than one of the above, have several of these ever happened during the same period of time ?	YES	NO
3	How much of a problem did any of these cause you—like being unable to work; having family, money, or legal troubles; or getting into arguments or fights?            No Problem      Minor Problem      Moderate Problem      Serious Problem

The following scores are the most indicative of having bipolar disorder, though be careful: a positive test does not mean you have bipolar disorder (read on to understand that). The authors found these scores include the most individuals who do have bipolar disorder, and "rule out" the most individuals who don't have it.

Section 1	7 yes responses
Section 2	Yes
Section 3	Yes/must cause some problems in life
