From the Desk of Father Jacek

Del Escritorio del Padre Jacek

Today's Gospel is taken from the Gospel according to John. The reading is part of a discourse between Jesus and a crowd of Jews. The discourse comes shortly after the miracle of Jesus' multiplication of the loaves and fishes. In John's Gospel, miracles such as this are identified as "signs" through which people come to believe that Jesus is the Son of God.

Having seen Jesus multiply the loaves and fishes, the crowd pursues him, perhaps seeking more food but also looking for another sign. Jesus tells the crowd that he is the bread of life. He explains that just as God gave the Israelites manna to sustain them in the desert, so now God has sent new manna that will give them eternal life. It is in this context that Jesus repeats those words in today's Gospel and tells them again that he is the living bread that came down from heaven.

Jesus' words are not well understood by the crowd; they argue that Jesus is not from heaven but was born of Mary and Joseph. The crowd also has trouble understanding how Jesus could give them his flesh to eat. Jesus tells them that when they eat his flesh and drink his blood, they will remain forever connected to him. These are difficult words, but they are important because they seek to show us our intimate connection with Jesus.

This is the mystery that is at the heart of our Eucharistic theology. In the elements of bread and wine, Jesus' Body and Blood are truly present. When we share in the Body and Blood of Christ, Jesus himself comes to dwell within us. This communion with the Lord makes us one body, brings us eternal life, and sends us forth to be Christ's Body in the world.

Fr. Jacek

El Evangelio de hoy está tomado del Evangelio según Juan. La lectura es parte de un discurso entre Jesús y una multitud de judíos. El discurso llega poco después del milagro de la multiplicación de Jesús de los panes y los peces. En el Evangelio de Juan, milagros como este se identifican como "señales" a través de las cuales las personas llegan a creer que Jesús es el Hijo de Dios.

Habiendo visto a Jesús multiplicar los panes y los peces, la multitud lo persigue, tal vez buscando más comida, pero también buscando otra señal. Jesús le dice a la multitud que él es el pan de vida. Él explica que así como Dios les dio a los israelitas maná para sostenerlos en el desierto, ahora Dios ha enviado un nuevo maná que les dará vida eterna. Es en este contexto que Jesús repite esas palabras en el Evangelio de hoy y les dice de nuevo que él es el pan vivo que bajó del cielo.

Las palabras de Jesús no son bien entendidas por la multitud; argumentan que Jesús no es del cielo, sino que nació de María y José. La multitud también tiene problemas para entender cómo Jesús pudo darles su carne para comer. Jesús les dice que cuando coman su carne y beban su sangre, permanecerán para siempre conectados a él. Estas son palabras difíciles, pero son importantes porque buscan mostrarnos nuestra conexión íntima con Jesús.

Este es el misterio que está en el corazón de nuestra teología eucarística. En los elementos del pan y el vino, el Cuerpo y la Sangre de Jesús están verdaderamente presentes. Cuando compartimos el Cuerpo y la Sangre de Cristo, Jesús mismo viene a morar dentro de nosotros. Esta comunión con el Señor nos hace un solo cuerpo, nos trae vida eterna y nos envía a ser el Cuerpo de Cristo en el mundo.

P. Jacek
