Should I use a map or a globe?

A globe is a model of what the Earth would look like from space. It shows all of the Earth's land and water. You can see the 7 continents on the globe. You can also see the 4 oceans and many rivers and lakes on the globe. Would you be able to find your house on a globe? No, the globe shows us the Earth's large landforms and water. It can not show your house.

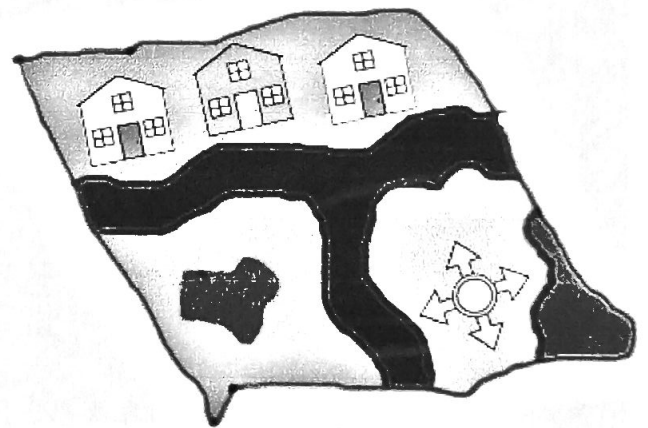

Globe

Maps can give you lots of information. A map is usually flat. There are maps of countries and states, which are large! There can also be smaller maps of towns, neighborhoods, parks, and even classrooms!

Circle what you would use to find a friend's house.

Put an X on what you would use to find an ocean.

The Vowel Stealers

5/26

The five Vowel Stealing Robots are Letterland's law-breakers. They alert children to the power of the letter r to alter the behavior of any vowel they discover behind a robot's back.

With each vowel being captured, they won't be making their usual sounds!

Children learn to spot these sneaky robots by becoming "Reading Detectives", always on the lookout for those r's with vowels on their backs.

Below are the Vowel Stealers with examples of words that your child may find in books!

For extra practice you can read or spell some of these words with your child!

Arthur Ar

He likes to run away with Annie Apple.
She is too upset to make her usual sound. Instead he reports back to his ringleader, Red Robot, with his last name "Ar"!

car	barn
yard	shark

Orvil Or

Every chance he gets, he takes a talking orange. He reports back to Red Robot with his last name, "Or"!
Sometimes, he is in a rush and captures an extra vowel as well!

corn	fork
sport	north
door	four

The Er Brothers

These three robots all sort of look alike. They are all purple because they are brothers! They are called the Er Brothers, because they all like to make the same /er/ sound. They spell it different ways, because each one likes to capture a different vowel.

Ernest Er

her	never
over	sister

Urgent Ur

fur	turn
hurt	curl
