Burger BBQ Canva Birthday Invitation What is the project? These free printable birthday invitations are cute and colorful and easy to customize for your own birthday party! Perfect for kids of all ages and great for boys or girls. January can be such a depressing month after the holiday fever. Combine that with the cold and I think it can get tough. That’s why I’m glad that one of my children is born in January, because it gives me projects and fun things to think about during this month. So, since I have birthdays on my mind this month, you will see several birthday-related posts coming out in the next few weeks. Today I’m giving you some free printable birthday invitations. These are good for any birthday themed party and I’m also going to show you how to customize them yourself using PicMonkey. It’s SO easy! Invitations for free printable birthday parties: Here’s the first! I feel this is great for teenagers (or any age really): Here’s the blank template. Save this to your computer and then read through the tutorial on how to customize next: Here’s a sweet girl birthday invitation template: And the white girl birthday party template: And here’s a third option n: And here it is White template: How to use PicMonkey to customize invitations: If you haven’t used PicMonkey yet, this is going to rock your world! It is ALSO a very useful online tool. I use it all the time to design things, things, edit images, and resize images. Go to PicMonkey.com. They have a free version or you can upgrade to the stylish version for only $5 a month. I use the update version because it allows me to have more font options and design options and it’s totally worth the $5 to me! When you get to PicMonkey, here’s what you’ll see: To customize one of these cards you need to select Edit from the menu at the top of the screen. Then browse to your card that you saved on your computer and open it. Now you need to customize it with your own information. You will need to add text. To do this select the T from the left sidebar menu and click Add Text at the top left: You can see in the image above that I have a text box on my invitation and I have written Madison’s Turning on it. You can also see a box that allows me to edit that text. I can do a lot of things. I can change the size by sliding the left (for smaller) or right (for larger). I can also choose bold, italicize, change the alignment and change the color. In the menu on the left I can select a font. The fonts with the crown next to them are only available if you use the paid version. Now if I want to change the font color and make it match what’s already in the template (like pink or purple), all I need to do is highlight my text, then click the color bar on the left of that Text Edit Box. (The box that is purple in this picture below.) This will give me a little drip to work with. Embrace that dropper over the color you want and click and pick that color and now you can write with it. To move text around you you will need to have it unhighlighted but click one of the letters. This will bring a box around it and the little compass arrow thing to drag with. Just arrest him to You want it and leave it. Get all your text there and click Save on the top menu bar. This will open a new window where you can save on your computer! That easy, right? ThenPut them into something like a Word document and print them into stock of letters. They are dimensioned to 5 x 7 inches. Our children’s birthday invitations cover all the bases. From fantasy to fanciful, sporty to Spunky, you will find designs that match the theme of your party or help you find one. Download from our site, print, or send your invitations online with RSVP. You can also share your design via SMS, Facebook and WhatsApp. But what about the party? Keep your costs to a minimum when looking for ways to transform economy items into Party DÃA©. Wrap a strip of duct tape with drawings around the party cups or drink bottles or boxes for an instant color and a hit to your theme. Tiger stripes go with animals, circus, zoo, jungle, fashion. Gumballs are polka dots or balloons or beach balls. You got the idea! Computer Savvy-ish? Print photos of the birthday star, and the possibilities are endless. Add mini photos to cups or plates or use as confetti. Larger images Create a clothesline screen, poster or banner. Cover an oversized cut-out of the number of birthdays with favorite shots. The stock of cards is sturdy to decorate, and even a mid-level printer can spit good quality photos. Printing on a full-page sticker paper takes this idea to the level SLAM-DUNK super simple. Round paper lanterns are your decorative friends! A string or closter or stack can set the colors of your party and express your theme. Add a small handcrafted action, and your flashlights become fish, or turn yellow on emojis. White flashlights SPORTING SMEZY BASEBOLES GIANTES. A few simple touches and a row of several lanterns come together with a colorful caterpillar. Indoors or out, illuminated or not, paper lanterns give him a lot of explosion for your money. If your son is waitingOnly or a Big Birthday Bash, a great invitation and some key decorations can set up your topic and create a party environment. The maximum priority is always honoring your child in a way that speaks to the heart: “We love you!
